6. In June 1959, replacements from the training battalion Malinovka, P.S.S.R. and about 1,000 other soldiers which were moved by rail to the Hungarian border via Kiev, were loaded in Hungarian cars and dispatched to Bruck on the Leitha River (P 49/X 77). They were unloaded and marched to a distributing point for military personnel near a small town in the woods, where they arrived after a night march of about two hours. Within 24 hours, they had been picked up by trucks which belonged to the new units. The distribution point also was a collecting point for discharges, [REDACTED]
